Admissions Commission	1 With regard to the planning and conduct of the admission and enrolment procedure to the degree programmes (Bachelor's and Master's), the head of the respective degree programme appoints an Admissions Commission.
Admission procedure	2 Applicants must pass an admission procedure, which includes a review of the formal admission criteria and an aptitude assessment. The details concerning the admission and enrolment procedures are governed by the respective programme regulations.
Language competence	3 Applicants who did not complete their education in the language of the degree programme are asked to submit proof of their language proficiency (certificate or equivalent). The standards regarding language proficiency and any possible additional requirements are governed by the respective programme regulations. Any decision is made by the head of the degree programme.
ECTS admission criteria	4 Applicants are asked to declare any ECTS credits attained in a previous, not completed study course. Upon admission, the number of attained ECTS credits relevant to the successful completion of the current degree programme will then be taken into account. Admission to the degree programme stipulates that sufficient valid ECTS credits are still to be attained. The Director decides on justified exceptions.
Documentation	5 Admission to a degree programme is not possible if an applicant has previously been expelled from the same or a comparable degree programme (forced de-registration). Upon request, the Director has the power to make well-reasoned exceptions. 6 The results and valuations of the aptitude assessment are documented by the head of the degree programme.
Bachelor's degree programme Admission requirements	7 Applicants are accepted to the Bachelor's degree programme on the condition that they are in possession of one of the following educational qualifications: 8 Field of Design (sect. 1, para. 2 subparas b, c, d and f): a. a vocational baccalaureate in connection with professional training in an occupational field related to the field of Design; b. a specialized baccalaureate in an occupational field related to the field of Design; c. an upper secondary school (level II) baccalaureate; d. a vocational or specialized baccalaureate in a different occupational field; e. an equivalent general training obtained otherwise. 9 Field of Fine Arts (sect. 1, para. 2, subpara. a): a. a vocational baccalaureate; b. a specialized baccalaureate; c. an upper secondary school (level II) baccalaureate; d. an equivalent general training obtained otherwise. 10 Field of Arts and Design Education (sect. 1, para., 2 subpara. e): a. a vocational baccalaureate; b. a specialized baccalaureate; c. an upper secondary school (level II) baccalaureate; d. an equivalent general training obtained otherwise; e. an EDK-approved primary school teaching diploma.

Admission on basis of special talent	14 In exceptional cases, enrolment in a Bachelor's programme in the fields of Design and Fine Arts may be granted even in the case that an applicant has not attained an Upper Secondary baccalaureate degree, namely if the applicant is able to provide evidence of exceptional artistic and creative talent. Details concerning admission on the basis of exceptional artistic or design-related talent are specified in the respective programme. 15 Applicants to the field of Design with qualifications as specified in para. 8, subparas. c to e as well as concerning an admission according to para. 14 must also provide evidence of one

Section 4 Programme structure

Structure of modules	1 The degree programmes are structured according to modules. 2 A module is a conceptional, time-bounded teaching and learning unit focusing on a thematic or subject-determined topic and defined by specifically outlined competencies. 3 Modules are assessment units and are completed after one semester. Exceptions are listed in the respective programme regulations.
Module groups	4 Modules can be joined to form module groups. Details are listed in the appendix (list of modules) of the corresponding programme regulations.
Courses Module description	5 A module may be composed of one or more courses. 6 For each module there is a description which is issued by the head of the respective degree programme. The module descriptions are published before the start of a new semester, and define in particular:

- a. title of module;
- b. type of module;
- c. module level (Bachelor's or Master's);
- d. module supervisors
- e. prerequisites;
- f. language of tuition;
- g. teaching and learning formats;
- h. attendance requirement, if applicable;

- j. competences to be attained;
- k. number of ECTS credits;
- l. workload – tutorial and independent study;
- m. kind of performance assessments;
- n. kind of performance ratings (according to sect. 7 para. 6);
- o. module assessment (timing, format, setting and weighting of performance assessments).

Section 5 Course of Studies

Types of modules

- 1 HGK Basel FHNW offers and distinguishes between three types of modules:
 - a. Compulsory modules that must be completed;
 - b. Compulsory modules of choice, to be selected in a certain number from a group of modules;
 - c. Elective modules; these can be selected from the range of courses offered by HGK Basel FHNW, by other FHNW colleges, or by other universities.

Planning your study

- 2 In the course of the Bachelor's and Master's degree programmes, students can select modules offered by other FHNW degree programmes which will then be credited as an elective module.

Prerequisites

- 3 Regarding modules and module groups, module descriptions may include requirements that need to be met if a student wishes to attend a specific module or group of modules. The deadlines and modalities for deregistering from modules are set and published at the beginning of each semester. In the event of belated deregistration or failure to deregister, the module is classed as "not completed" and rated with a grade of 1. Cancellations due to important reasons in accordance with sect. 10 para. 4 remain reserved.

Deregistration from modules

- 4 The conditions regarding the passing and the crediting of completed modules within the standard duration of study are set out in sect. 7 of these regulations.

Section 6 Duration of Studies

Standard duration of studies

- 1 Regarding full-time Bachelor's degree programmes, the standard duration of studies is 6 semesters; for students studying Fashion Design it is 7 semesters; regarding full-time MA degree programmes, the standard duration of studies is 4 semesters; for students taking the Masterstudio Design it is 3 semesters.

Maximum duration of studies Interruption of studies

- 2 Regarding the Bachelor's as well as Master's degree programmes, the total duration of studies may not exceed twice the standard duration of study. An interruption of studies may not exceed the duration of 4 semesters. The time out is not factored in when determining the overall duration of studies.
- 3 An interruption of studies may not exceed the duration of 4 semesters. The time out is not factored in when determining the overall duration of studies.
- 4 The respective programme regulations describe the course of study as a full-time study or, if offered, as a part-time study (so-called fractioning).
- 5 The Director may grant exceptions to para. 3 in justified cases (in particular with regard to interruptions due to illness or accident, parental leave, occupational duties, family obligations that cannot be delegated, military or civil service, professional activities outside the realm of studies). Appropriate proof is to be provided.

Section 7 Academic performances with regard to Bachelor's and Master's degree programmes

ECTS credits

- 1 The various degree programmes build on the European Credit Transfer and Accumulation System (ECTS). On average, one ECTS credit is equivalent to 30 hours of study (in-class instruction, accompanied and independent home study, work input in connection with performance assessments, project work, thesis, etc.).

Validity

² ECTS credits are valid for ten years from the date of award. Written requests for an extension of the validity of ECTS credits may be granted by the head of the respective degree programme.

Academic year

³ An academic year in full-time study corresponds on average to 1,800 workhours, or 60 ECTS credits. When studying part-time, the number of workhours and ECTS credits is accordingly lower. The academic year is based on the academic calendar issued by HGK Basel FHNW.

Performance assessment

⁴ The acquisition of competences is tested with the aid of one or more performance assessments (oral or written exams, presentations, colloquia, thesis papers, scientific work, confirmation of active participation, proof of academic work completed in home study, etc).
⁵ In accordance with the respective module descriptions, academic performances can be rendered in form of individual work, in partnership, or as group work.

Performance rating

⁶ Performance assessments in a module (performance rating) are graded either on a 6-point or a 2-point scale. The method of assessment is specified in the respective module description.

6-point scale

⁷ On the 6-point scale, grades are given as whole, half, or one-tenth grades. Grades on the 6-point scale are rounded according to mathematical principles.
⁸ Grades awarded on the 6-point scale are defined as follows:

6	excellent
5.5	very good
5	good
4.5	satisfactory
4	sufficient
3.5	provisional fail
3	definite fail
2	poor
1	extremely poor

2-point scale

⁹ The 2-point scale includes the levels "pass" and "fail".

Passing a module, amendments

¹⁰ A module is rated as "passed" if the student achieves at least a (rounded) 4 for his module performance or else receives a "pass". A performance rated between 3.5 and 3.9 can be amended to a 4 within a maximum period of six weeks. The right to repeat the module according to sect. 7, para. 13 remains guaranteed. Depending on the module, the respective lecturers determine the extent and criteria of the required amendments. A module rated as a "definite fail" cannot be amended.

¹¹ A module with a "pass" is given the full amount ECTS credit points ascribed to the module; for a "definitely failed" module no ECTS credit points are awarded.

ECTS grades

¹² In addition, ECTS grades can be assigned. ECTS grades A to E depend on the relative ranking within the range of "passes":

A	the best 10% of the performance ratings
B	the following 25% of the performance ratings
C	the following 30% of the performance ratings
D	the following 25% of the performance ratings
E	the following 10% of the performance ratings
FX	provisional fail - improvements required
F	definite fail

Retake

¹³ Failed modules can be retaken once within the same degree programme. Passed modules cannot be repeated.

Oral exams

¹⁴ Oral exams require, apart from the examiner, the presence of a second person. In exceptional and justified cases, an audio or video recording is permitted in place of a second person.

Performance certificate

¹⁵ In each semester, academic achievements are documented by means of a performance certificate. It includes all modules completed in the respective semester with the corresponding performance ratings and ECTS credits awarded. Students have the right to appeal a rating's validity and are provided with the appropriate information on legal remedy.

Issue of performance certificate

¹⁶ The performance certificate is mailed to students in electronic form via a secure platform, or sent by post.

Access to records

¹⁷ Access to examination records is granted upon request as soon as the performance record is available. Such requests are to be submitted to the head of the respective degree programme either electronically or by pos

- 18 Modules successfully completed in other FHNW degree programmes or at other universities prior to the commencement of studies, other types of formal training at tertiary level, informal training as defined by federal law regarding continuing education, as well as practical work experience may be acknowledged and credited as long as the achievements are attested and judged to be equivalent.
